Captain Paul Yep's Message

The Central Police District includes several high profile areas for commerce and tourism, and is home to many vibrant residential neighborhoods. The Central District is also includes several of the most iconic and historic landmarks in San Francisco. The District comprises of the entire Northeast waterfront area of the City, Pier 39, Fisherman's Wharf, the Embarcadero, the Ferry Building, North Beach, Chinatown, Financial District, Union Square, Russian Hill, Nob Hill, Telegraph Hill, Coit Tower, "Crooked" Lombard Street, the Transamerica Building, and the Broadway Corridor.

According to San Francisco Travel, approximately eighteen million tourists visit San Francisco annually! Most certainly these visitors make their way into the Central District to sightsee, eat, and play.

There are five Central foot beat assignments that are essential and contribute to the vitality and health of our San Francisco communities. They are: Union Square, Fisherman's Wharf, Chinatown, North Beach and Market/Embarcadero/Ferry Plaza.

Each foot beat area includes stores, restaurants, hotels, as well as business and merchant associations and community groups. Consistent "quality of life" and criminal complaints from civic leaders, neighbors, families, merchants and tourists include: robberies, assaults, burglaries, auto burglaries, retail theft, narcotics offenses, encounters with persons with "altered mental status", the homeless population, and traffic safety. I believe foot beat officers are a crucial part of mitigating many of these public safety issues.

Central Station will be scheduling a series of "Meet the Foot Beats" events in our neighborhoods. A schedule of meeting dates, times and locations will be published soon for each foot beat officer assignment. Please take the time to meet and talk with your local District officers!

Featured Officer of the Month

Sergeant Rosemarie Smith

Each month Central Police Station features one of its officers in an effort to learn more about the men and women who police our neighborhood. This month, we interviewed Sergeant Rosemarie Smith, a 7-year member of Central Police Station.

Painting on the right is a self painting of Sergeant Rosemarie Smith's SFPD Academy picture that she drew for art class.

Sergeant Smith was born in San Francisco, CA. She graduated from Lowell High School. She is currently attending classes at the San Francisco Academy of Art. She will be graduating this year with a Bachelor's Degree in Fine Arts.

Sergeant Smith joined the San Francisco Police Department on June 26, 1995. After graduating from the Police Academy, she was assigned to Mission Station for field training. After field training, she was assigned to Richmond Station for her probation station. After probation, she remained at Richmond Station by the request of the Captain. At Richmond Station, she was assigned as the Traffic Car Officer because of her skill at drawing accident diagrams. As an Officer, Sergeant Smith had also worked at Taraval and Northern Stations.

Sergeant Smith was promoted to Sergeant in 2009. After waiting for 16 years to transfer to Central, she took her transfer to Central Station in August 2011. Upon arriving at Central Station, she was a Sergeant in the Station Investigation Team. She is now a Patrol Sergeant and can be seen in the Fisherman's Wharf area. As a Sergeant, she had also worked at Tenderloin, Ingleside, Technology Division and Financial Crimes Unit. Her specialty is in Fraud since she has worked in the Financial Crimes Unit as well as working in banking as a Customer Service Manager before becoming a police officer.

Sergeant Smith works the swing shift by choice in order to continue her education at the Academy of Art during the day. In art, she specializes in Portraiture and Figure painting, but she can also paint landscapes. She also likes sculpture and printmaking. Her most painted model is her 5 year old granddaughter, Zoe, who asked for a whistle for Christmas so she can also be a policewoman.

Sergeant Smith's favorite thing about the Central is working with her co-workers and walking and talking to people in the neighborhood and visiting customers at the local coffee shops and restaurants.
