San Francisco Police Warn Chinese Community of Latest "Blessing" Scam Incidents

San Francisco Police are warning the Chinese community of recent incidents involving a "Blessing" scam targeting a Chinese victim, resulting in great financial loss. The first incident occurred on the morning of November 29, 2018 in the Visitacion Valley. As a result of the scam, the victim lost a significant amount of US currency.

In this incident, the victim noticed the first of three suspects on Schwerin Street speaking loudly about a problem. A second suspect approached the first and offered to help her obtain a blessing in order to alleviate the problem. The suspects convinced the victim to walk with them on Schwerin Street. They then encountered the third suspect who offered to bless the victim, lest something bad happen to her son. The third suspect told the victim to go home and get as much cash as possible to pay for the blessing. When the victim returned with the cash, she felt someone "tugging" at the bag containing the currency but was then distracted by one of the suspects. The third suspect told the victim that the blessing had already been made and that she no longer needed to pay. Upon returning home, the victim found that her money had been substituted with other items.

The second incident occurred on the afternoon of December 1st, 2018 in the area of 6th Avenue and Clement Street. Two suspects engaged the victim in a conversation regarding medicinal herbs which would be used to heal a sick family member. When the third suspect joined the group, she told the victim that she could read her "aura" and predicted that the victim's family would suffer a serious tragedy in the coming days. The suspect offered a blessing and requested the victim to go home and return with money and valuables to be blessed. The victim complied and returned to the area of 6th Avenue and Clement Street. During this second meeting, the suspects stole the victim's valuables, replacing them with paper and other items.
