Training Video regarding Cross Reports between the San Francisco Police Department and Family and Children Services

(Re-issue DB 17-082)

The San Francisco Police Department and Family and Children Services (CPS) have collaborated to create the San Francisco Law Enforcement Protocol for Child Abuse Investigation.

The goal of the video is to educate officers in the protocols on when and how to contact Family and Children Services on incidents involving children. Furthermore, it also focuses on when parents are arrested and children are left in the care of someone other than the parent. Limiting unnecessary stress to the children involved is one of the goals, while still satisfying their legal requirements as members of law enforcement.

Members can access the training video regarding Cross Reports with Family and Children Services by using the following web link:
