Captain's Message

Hello Community,

As the summer comes to an end and our children are all back in school, it's important to remember to slow down when driving. This is also the time of the year when there is less daylight, so remember to drive cautiously. Pedestrian and bicyclist safety is very important to all of us and since there has been an increase in the amount of people that are walking and riding bikes in the district, here are a few safety tips:

- Be aware of your surrounding when out and about
- Walk with a purpose and know where you are going
- Try not to be on your cell phone while walking or riding public transit
- If you are traveling early in the morning or late at night, consider using the buddy system for safety
- Save the number 415-553-8090 in your cell phone contacts to reach SFPD 911.
*This number is for emergencies only when calling from your cell phone
- Report all crimes and please be safe

Please feel free to email me at troy.dangerfield@sfgov.org with any further concerns, questions or comments.

Sincerely,

Captain Troy Dangerfield #250

YOUR FEEDBACK will help US serve YOU better!

The SFPD wants to hear from YOU, our key stakeholders

We are committed to excellence in law enforcement and are dedicated to the people, traditions and diversity of our City. Our mission is to provide service with understanding, response with compassion, performance with integrity and law enforcement with vision.

We welcome your comments. Let us know how we're doing, what we could be doing better and your thoughts on how your police department can work more closely with the community it proudly serves.

Your feedback will help SFPD better serve our City. Your comments will be reviewed by our Community Engagement Unit and forwarded to the relevant unit, department office or neighborhood station for review and follow up, if appropriate.

You may also visit sanfranciscopolice.org/police-commendation-complaint for more information on providing input on SFPD policies and practices.)

With over 2,300 different telephone numbers listed to access local government services, many people did not know what number to dial to reach the appropriate department. Now you can connect to city services with only two numbers to remember: 911 for emergencies and 3-1-1 for everything else.

Before 311, over 50% of calls to the 911 center were not emergency related. 311 relieves 911 operators from these non-emergency calls. If a catastrophic emergency such as an earthquake occurs, 311 operators will be able to provide accurate information to assist during the recovery. In the unlikely event the 911 facilities become inoperative, the 311 call center will function as a back-up.

Bike Theft Advice (SF SAFE)

Tell us if this scenario sounds familiar...You're riding your bike to work, when you decide to take a short detour for some morning coffee. You lock up your pride-and-joy, go inside the coffee shop to buy your cuppa Joe and reemerge to get hit with a major shock: Your bike has been stolen.

It's not exactly the way anyone wants to start their day, nor is getting ripped off anything anyone really wants to happen at any time. However, should a similar scenario ever happen to you or someone you know, here's what you should do next to increase your chances of recovering your bike:

- 1. File a Police Report. You can do this in one of three ways: Online at <http://sanfranciscopolice.org/Reports>; via phone by calling 415.553.0123, which is the non-emergency number for the San Francisco Police Department (SFPD); or in person by going directly to your district police station and filing your report. You can check out this police district map to see which station is yours. The best way to file your report is in-person, as those reports are often treated as a higher priority.

Before filing your report, be sure to have your SAFE Bikes registration number (if you have one), your bike serial number, and if you're filing the report online or in person, a copy of your receipt and a photo of the bike.
- 2. Call or Email SF SAFE. Why? So we can list your bike as stolen in our database. Once you have your SAFE Bikes registration number and/or your bike serial number ready, you can reach us by calling 415.553.1984 or emailing info@sfsafe.org.
- 3. Register. If you haven't done so already, register your bike at nonprofit bike registry <https://bikeindex.org>. In the event that you're already registered on the site, take action to flag your bike as stolen. This simple act can significantly increase the chance someone will report seeing your stolen bike for sale.
- 4. Read Up. SF SAFE recommends reading "What to do after your bike has been stolen" on Medium. The article has a multitude of gems about where and how to post about your bike on social media to increase your chances of recovering it.
- 5. Create a Google Alert. By creating a Google alert for bikes being sold that match the make and model of your bike, you can increase your chances of finding it. Instructions here.
- 6. Don't Recover Your Bike Yourself. If you see your bike for sale on Craigslist or OfferUpNow.com, don't try to recover it yourself—contact the SFPD directly. Also, don't contact the website as they won't offer assistance.
- 7. Keep in Touch. If the police contact you to return your bike, or if you recover it, please let us know! That way, SF SAFE can keep our files updated.

Some preventative measures you can take against future bike theft include registering your bike with our SAFE Bikes registry and also checking out this step-by-step guide on how to best lock your bike (click here). For more bike safety resources, visit our website.
